Artificial Intelligence: The New Age Catalyst

The university had invited leading luminaries from the corporate world for a Panel discussion on How Artificial Intelligence is making impact on different domains. It was pleasure and enlightening to hear their views.

Venkatesh Neelam

Talent Acquisition Team, India

“ The future of AI promises profound changes in machine and human learning” asserted Mr. Neelam . He informed that initiatives like national AI strategy and establishment of AI Research institutes are fostering innovation & collaboration. It has become integral to various sectors like healthcare, finance, transportation, logistics and defense. The ability to process vast amount of data quickly is helping the mankind to find solutions to many problems and arrive at decisions that help in economic growth. Today AI has become integral to various sectors be it government or private.

Priyanka Nayak

University Talent Partner Lead

She delivered her views on AI in 2025 - The future of work and Industry Transformation. She divided her opinion in two categories – 1. Academia and 2. Industry.

She began by emphasizing the importance of the transition from campus to corporate. According to her the universities play a crucial role in preparing leaders of tomorrow. The present curriculum needs to be embedded with AI across all the disciplines to have agile workforce for future. This the transition will offer both opportunity and challenges.

The transition is not about technology but how business and economies evolve. She concluded that future is not just AI driven but AI empowered.

Reshmi Nebumpilly

Head of Campus and University Relation

She tried to drive home the point that Ai is not just about data and algorithms. It is making strides in creative domains as well. The vital point is ethics in its application. With great power comes great responsibility. The technology that is influencing the everyday life and transforming the world is Ai. It has made its impact on almost every field and that includes education as well. It is integrated into many applications we use in our day to day life and for career opportunities. The evolution of AI is creating new job roles and opportunities to potential candidates with creativity.

Narane Gundabathula

Executive Manager, Talent Acquisition

No sector is untouched by AI was the opening statement by Mr. Gundabathula . He revealed that Ai was being used not only to address local challenges, address problems, improve efficiency but also at macro level for economic growth while maintaining ethics. Collaboration among government, academics and private sector can yield results which benefit one and all. Today every sector is using it to process information, make analysis, solve problems and arrive at quick decisions. The government too has recognized its importance and has established Innovation hubs and Incubation centers in pursuit of Smart India and global leader

Vikrant Bhagwan

Head of Human Resources

Importance of AI was acknowledged when Mr. Bhagwan informed that AICTE has declared 2025 -THE YEAR OF AI marking ambitious push by India to AI driven solutions. This reflects Commitment by India to become global AI powerhouse. This marks a paradigm shift ushering Industrial Revolution. According him true power does not lie in automation but in augmentation. How we unlock possibilities, address new challenges and enhance human potential to handle complex challenges. He said that AI should be used to bridge social and economic gap, according to him the real question was can AI be used responsibly and ethically for benefit of the world.

Shubham Tripathi

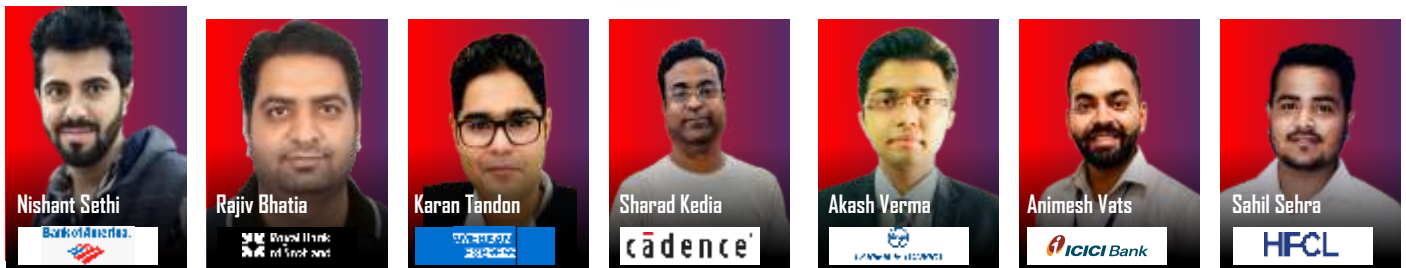

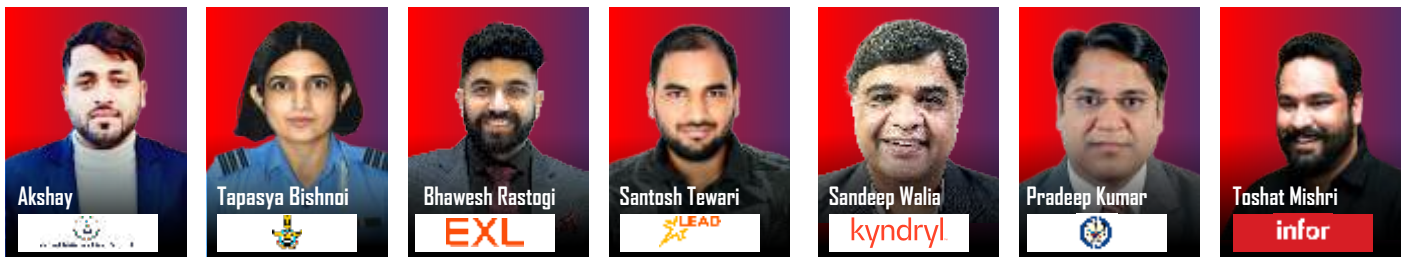

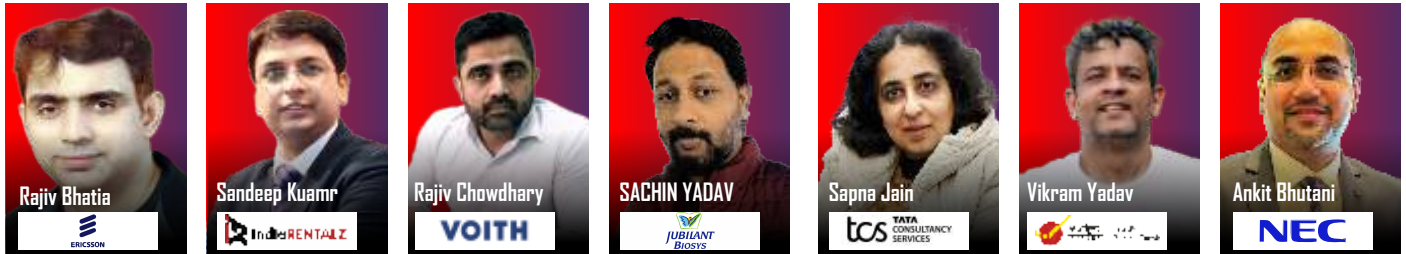

Senior Manager HR

Mr. Tripathi believes the future of AI in hiring will be transformative, with technologies like machine learning and data analytics reshaping recruitment. AI will move beyond basic automation to support strategic workforce planning, talent management, and improved candidate experience. AI also has strong potential to reduce bias by focusing on merit and qualifications, though ethical training and quality data remain essential. Importantly, AI will enhance—not replace—human recruiters, who will continue to handle relationship-building and final decisions. Overall, AI will enable a more efficient, fair, and data-driven recruitment process while complementing human judgment.

DIRECTOR OF THE FINANCIAL STABILITY AND CYBER SECURITY DIVISION

As an alumnus of the B.Tech (Computer Science and Engineering) program at MM Engg College from 1999 to 2003, I am delighted to hear about the launch of the university's first public magazine. It takes me back to the time when I was a student at MM, and I can't help but feel grateful for the invaluable experiences I had there.

The campus was serene and picturesque, and the faculty members were some of the most knowledgeable and experienced individuals I have ever encountered. They not only impart an excellent education but also instilled values that have stayed with me over the years. The deep-rooted belief in myself that I developed during my time at MM is something that has helped me immensely in my personal and professional life. I still remember the excitement of being one of the toppers in my class and the sense of community at MM was also one of the highlights of my experience. The friendships I made during my time there have lasted a lifetime.

To the current students, I encourage you to make the most of your time at MM and take advantage of the opportunities that come your way. The values and beliefs that you develop during your time here will stay with you for the rest of your life.

I am Gentleman Cadet Ajay Pant, MMU alumnus from B.Tech(CSE), 2016-2020 batch. Presently, I am undergoing military training at the Indian Military Academy, Dehradun. It is a matter of great honour to write this message for MM University, a place that helped me shape my future. As I look back, I wonder how life suddenly took a sharp turn. From Mr. to GC, overgrown beard to clean shave, dress to uniform, shoes to boots, college bag to haversack, and pen to a rifle: All credit goes to my parents, MM University, professors, seniors, and my fellow batchmates. MM University provided me with an excellent platform to showcase my talent and potential. The course of four years not only gave me a degree but also made me an informed, responsible, and confident person. The college presented various events to organise and participate in. It included sports, festivals, guest lectures, hackathons, clubs, workshops, etc. for the all-round development of a student. I was also the President of the Technical Club of MMEC, CoDex, which helped me learn leadership and take ownership in my life. My best wishes and good luck to the MMU family! wishing you lots of success ahead.
